At 25 years old, tenor saxophonist Hank Mobley should already have been widely acclaimed for what he brought to the ensemble: making tricky tempo changes sound easy, playing with a big, full sound on ballads and penning strong compositions. But when his name was introduced on the first night at Cafe Bohemia, he received just a brief smattering of applause. That contrast between his incredible artistry and an audience’s understated reaction encapsulates his career.

Critic Leonard Feather described Mobley as “the middleweight champion of the tenor saxophone.” Likely not intended to be disrespectful, the phrase implied that his sound was somewhere between a heavy, aggressive style (like Sonny Rollins), and gently swinging one (like Lester Young). But the “middleweight” designation left him underappreciated in the annals of jazz history.

Additionally, Mobley retreated from the public eye for a number of years, which earned him a reputation for reclusiveness. Still, just as middleweight champion boxer Sugar Ray Robinson inspired the legendary Muhammad Ali, Mobley set the pace for many celebrated tenor saxophonists who followed his path, including his friend John Coltrane.

Now, with his induction into the DownBeat Hall of Fame more than 33 years after his death at age 55, Mobley’s name has joined the ranks of the esteemed artists he influenced. Much of his best work has been assembled for the newly released eight-disc box set The Complete Hank Mobley Blue Note Sessions 1963–70 (Mosaic). The collection illustrates the evolution of Mobley’s instantly identifiable sound and his unique compositional approach. His muted harmonic twists and flowing rhythmic exchanges—while often hewing close to the blues—offer a crucial statement on how jazz was transformed during that decade. Dissonance, electronic experimentation and more open-ended collective improvisation were not the only stylistic advances that marked what became known as “The ‘60s.” Mobley’s warm tone didn’t necessarily coincide with clichés of the tumultuous era, as the saxophonist purposefully placed himself beyond perceived trends.

That individualism came across in one of his rare interviews, which he gave to writer John Litweiler for “Hank Mobley: The Integrity of the Artist–The Soul of the Man,” which ran in the March 29, 1973, issue of DownBeat.

Mobley said to Litweiler: “When I was about 18, [my uncle] told me, ‘If you’re with somebody who plays loud, you play soft. If somebody plays fast, you play slow. If you try to play the same thing they’re playing, you’re in trouble.’ Contrast.”

That uncle, multi-instrumentalist Dave Mobley, encouraged the musical inclinations of his nephew, who picked up the tenor saxophone at around age 16. During the late 1940s and early 1950s, Mobley’s experiences ranged from playing in r&b bands to a brief stint in the Duke Ellington Orchestra. But the bop revolution captured Mobley’s passion as he started recording his own compositions in 1953, two years after drummer Max Roach brought him to New York.

In the early Jazz Messengers (before Art Blakey took the helm), Mobley’s writing and improvisations incorporated advanced harmonic ideas while maintaining strong ties to the blues. On his mid-’50s Savoy records, Mobley’s challenging compositions emboldened teenage trumpeter Lee Morgan, who would become one of the saxophonist’s ongoing musical foils.

Blue Note signed Mobley as a bandleader in 1955, and for the next 15 years he would record extensively for the label. The fervor in his playing and writing while he was in his mid to late twenties remains astonishing. Mobley recorded one of his landmark albums, Soul Station, in 1960, highlighting how, as the sole horn player, he engaged with a formidable rhythm section of Blakey, bassist Paul Chambers and pianist Wynton Kelly. The results are a triumph, especially the group’s modern-leaning take on Irving Berlin’s “Remember” and Mobley’s assertiveness on his own “This I Dig Of You.”

Mobley gained much wider attention when he joined Miles Davis’ group in 1961. He plays on the trumpeter’s album Someday My Prince Will Come, as well as two live LPs recorded at The Blackhawk in San Francisco. Mobley’s earlier experience with Chambers and Kelly, Davis’ rhythm section stalwarts, proved valuable. The saxophonist’s tone highlighted what he described as “not a big sound, not a small sound, but a round sound,” most vividly on ballads. This approach blended impeccably with the bandleader’s muted tone.

In the Davis biography So What, writer John Szwed noted that with Mobley’s blues inflections, “There was a kinship to his playing that reinforced Davis’ popularity in black communities across America.” But Davis did not speak so favorably about the saxophonist, and Coltrane and Wayne Shorter’s roles with the trumpeter historically have overshadowed Mobley’s short tenure in the band.

Just after leaving Davis, Mobley said that he delved into a recurring drug addiction that frequently kept him away from performing and recording. While incarcerated for drug possession, he used prison time to compose, and his sound continued to evolve after each setback throughout the 1960s. Fortunately, as Blue Note Sessions shows, Mobley’s record company stood by him, despite such episodes.

On 1964’s No Room For Squares, Mobley conveyed quiet authority while allowing ample room for an especially spirited quintet. The group’s unison lines on his “Three Way Split” give way to shifting rhythms in a fierce exchange among Mobley, bassist John Ore and drummer Philly Joe Jones.

Mobley extended his musical palette for the sextet LP A Caddy For Daddy (recorded in 1965). His waltz “The Morning After” sounds like it was written specifically for pianist McCoy Tyner.

Dippin’ (also recorded in 1965) featured pianist Harold Mabern, whose robust blues feeling was a quality he shared with the leader. Mabern, who spoke to DownBeat about two weeks prior to his Sept. 17 death, somewhat agreed with a consensus that Mobley could be personally withdrawn. But he described the saxophonist as far from distant.

“Hank was a joy to be around, he never created problems, never got loud and boisterous,” Mabern said of the sessions that produced Dippin’, the only album the two musicians made together. “He was pure in heart. Those are the things that made the date easy for us, but he was no pushover: He knew what he wanted; you couldn’t give him.”

Mobley did not always adhere to a standard format, as illustrated by his 1966 octet recording, A Slice Of The Top. His sharp timing and command of all registers remained steadfast while he created long choruses for a distinctive brass section that included euphonium and tuba. While Duke Pearson was nominally in charge of the arrangements, they flowed from Mobley’s instructions. The tracks range from a waltz in 6/8 time (“Cute ‘N Pretty”) to the title track’s multidirectional groove.

The groundbreaking LP sat unreleased until 1979, about six years after Mobley expressed frustration at the amount of his material sitting in the Blue Note vault. His exasperation seems understandable, and the new Mosaic collection includes tracks from five compelling albums that were recorded in the 1960s but not released until the late ’70s and mid-’80s. Still, as Mosaic producer Michael Cuscuna pointed out, Mobley and his contemporaries—including Morgan, Jimmy Smith and Grant Green—created more tracks than any label could have been expected to issue around the time they were recorded.

During Mobley’s last years in the studio, his work also included covers of r&b hits, like the Four Tops’ “Reach Out I’ll Be There,” as well as original compositions that emphasized immediately attractive melodies with repeating motifs, such as “The Flip.” In some ways, these tracks show that after 20 years of invention, he never lost his feel for r&b.

Bassist Mickey Bass, who played on the saxophonist’s 1970 Blue Note album, Thinking Of Home, said Mobley’s compositional skills remained honed, regardless of the distractions or hardships he faced. “With both Hank and Lee Morgan, their genius was so great that in spite of their addictions, they would write out most of the tunes for the record date in the cab on the way to rehearsal,” Bass recalled. “That genius was unheard of at that particular time.”

In 1972, Mobley recorded his last album, Breakthrough, a collaboration with pianist Cedar Walton. (It was released on the Cobblestone label and later reissued by Muse).

Mobley continued his peripatetic lifestyle in the years that followed, but with the possibility of new music always out there. At the time of his 1973 DownBeat interview, Chicago was his home and he had started working with pianist Muhal Richard Abrams. No recording of the two is known to exist, which is a shame. Mobley’s final years remain mysterious, but he was known to have suffered from lung cancer and bouts of homelessness. It’s conceivable that he saw how his advanced ideas for composing and arranging on A Slice Of The Top became part of the lexicon for some of the groups coming out of Abrams’ Association for the Advancement of Creative Musicians.

As Bob Blumenthal writes in the liner notes to Blue Note Sessions, Mobley did achieve a moment of acclaim shortly before his death. When Blue Note experienced its rebirth in 1985, the label invited him to participate in a relaunch concert at New York’s Town Hall. Mobley appeared at the event, but he chose to speak to the audience, rather than perform. In some regard, he didn’t have to, as everyone present seemed to acknowledge that the label, and jazz itself, had thrived because of Mobley’s contributions.
Performance Controller

PC4

Explore :: Create :: Perform

Kurzweil's all new PC4 packs patented Flash-Play® technology, 256-voice polyphony and powerful DSP into a highly-portable performance controller and production station designed to meet the needs of performing artists, studio musicians, songwriters and producers.

NOW SHIPPING!

WWW.KURZWEIL.COM
Wayne Shorter won three categories in the 2019 DownBeat Readers Poll, including Jazz Artist.
Members of Wayne Shorter’s quartet have heard some intriguing anecdotes over the years. “Miles believed in so much of Wayne’s orchestral writing, his large-form writing,” said bassist John Patitucci, referring to Shorter’s stint in Miles Davis’ band. “Not long before Miles passed, he kept saying to Wayne, ‘You gotta expose yourself.’ Because he wanted him to expose all his orchestral power, and all the large-form things that he’d been working on all his life, sketches and things.

“Miles was the one who gave Wayne the idea to record Shorter’s arrangement of ‘Vendiendo Alegria,’ which was on the Alegria record,” Patitucci added. “We played it live a lot too, with orchestras.”

It’s clear that the orchestral portion of Shorter’s Emanon (Blue Note)—which won Jazz Album of the Year in both the 2019 DownBeat Readers Poll and Critics Poll—has been a long time coming. (Shorter also topped the Jazz Artist and Soprano Saxophone categories in the Readers Poll.)

The iconic saxophonist has been performing with symphony orchestras for years with his quartet, which, in addition to Patitucci, includes pianist Danilo Pérez and drummer Brian Blade. “We did stuff with the St. Louis Symphony, the Concertgebouw Orchestra, a lot of European [orchestras],” Patitucci said. “There are a lot of recordings that exist, I’m sure, but they have not come out. We were thrilled that Emanon could happen, frankly.”

The hurdles for having a project like Emanon come to fruition involve not only the cost of recording a large ensemble, but the fact that jazz and classical are seen by many as separate poles in music culture. Shorter, however, frequently has understood and explored many connections between the two genres.

“It’s all wrapped up in forging ahead,” Shorter said. “Like, do you know Mozart’s G minor Symphony No. 40? That can be the cymbal beat in jazz, straight jazz.” He then demonstrated by singing the opening theme. Then he translated the phrase into a rhythmic pattern: “Danga-dang, danga-dang, danga-dang-dang,” making it sound like a skip-ride beat. “I’ll just throw it out there: Mozart was probing into the unlimited.

“In classical, there is an extreme, a desire to increase what you’d call musical vocabulary,” Shorter continued. “And then in jazz, you have a kind of vocabulary which, when increased, or expounded, or blown up, you have the birth of avant-garde, a birth of this, a birth of fusion, a birth of that. But the actual musical vocabulary, and what jazz was driving at, was the democratic gateway to increasing the expressive vocabulary of what you’re doing. Not just doing jazz.”

“He has his style,” Patitucci said of Shorter’s orchestral compositions. “We have the benefit of poring over the scores, and being inside that music for many years—whether it’s directly related to that piece or many others that he’s written and performed with orchestras all around the world.”

Many aspects of Shorter’s orchestral writing seem vertical in structure; for instance, “the way he stacks harmonies up,” according to Patitucci. But what the bassist most admires are the horizontal elements. “There are a lot of lines—the woodwind line, the string line—that shoot across horizontally, commenting on those blocks of harmony that he lays out.”

Patitucci emphasized that he, Pérez and Blade, who are all composers, are “huge students of orchestration.” They typically study Shorter’s scores and then collaborate on the final piece: “Wayne trusts us to come up with our own stuff. So, Danilo will get the score, a piano reduction. Sometimes I’ll look at that, but I’ll also have the orchestral bass part, and will improvise around that, writing in aspects of the piano part, if needed. Brian will look at the bass part or the score ... and Danilo will write in parts of the orchestration coming from the woodwinds or whatever, lines that he might want to double. What we do in those situations is carve out our own parts, to complement what Wayne has written.”

Screenwriter Monica Sly worked on a different aspect of Shorter’s writing: the graphic novel that provides the visual element of the Emanon package. Sly framed the narrative arc around the four orchestral compositions on the recording. (The graphic novel’s illustrations are by Randy DuBurke.)

“You have four different songs, with four different meanings,” she explained. “Each song is going to be a different journey to overcome fear. Wayne’s biggest thing in life, what he’s always trying to get people to do, is to face their fears and embrace the unknown—which is a very scary thing for most people.”

Although she’d never written text for a graphic novel before, she found working on Emanon to be a deeply satisfying experience. “Nothing I’ve done has ever been like writing with Wayne,” she said. “But that’s because there’s no one like Wayne.” —J.D. Considine
Wayne Shorter

Emanon (Blue Note)

Shorter’s quixotic and nonlinear approach to music (and language) has made him an unlikely candidate for a high-profile spotlight. Yet he’s been in lofty situations for decades as a critical player and composer in Art Blakey’s Jazz Messengers dating back to the 1950s, in the Miles Davis Quintet of the ’60s and as cofounder of Weather Report in 1970. This ambitious, three-disc set, recorded with both the Orpheus Chamber Orchestra and his long-standing quartet, reinforces Shorter’s status as one of jazz’s paradoxical superheroes.

Chris Potter

Circuits (Edition)

Potter’s latest showcases some of the groove and r&B feel that marked his Underground group. But this new trio originally was assembled for a tour. Potter wanted to pursue an electric project, so he brought in drummer Eric Harland, who in turn recommended pianist James Francis. The live shows went so well, it seemed as if studio time was in order. It was.

Kamasi Washington

Heaven And Earth (Young Turks)

Musical representations of struggle, love and redemption, expressed through lush orchestration and a malleable mix of styles, ranging from futuristic post-bop to fusion and folk, constitute Washington’s most recent longform recording. But Heaven And Earth traces a personal evolution that speaks to larger issues around justice and unity.

Count Basie Orchestra

All About That Basie (Concord)

The Count Basie Orchestra was founded in 1936 in Kansas City, Missouri, and continues to this day, decades after its namesake bandleader died in 1984 at the age of 79. Just don’t call it a repertory, or worse, “ghost” band. And while the troupe plays true to its roots, it sounded like is intriguing, then this wildly entertaining excursion into early styles of the genre, expertly delivered by members of the Jazz at Lincoln Center Orchestra, should be in your collection.

Cécile McLorin Salvant

The Window (Mack Avenue)

In many ways vocalist Salvant is, first, an actor. She knows that actors are dependent upon their roles and that, for her, the song is the role. She chooses carefully from high-end theater and cabaret songs, sometimes unexpectedly if not always successfully. But her repertoire mixes the safety of the familiar with the risks of the obscure.

Snarky Puppy

Immigrance (GroundUP)

There’s usually a thematic conceit to Snarky Puppy records, and when writing the tunes for Immigrance, Michael League was thinking about migration and movement. Snarky has developed as a live band, driven by a studio technician’s ethic, and during the past dozen years, its music has become a genre of its own—one with remarkable popular appeal.
CONNECT TO THE POSSIBILITIES™

- Play sounds and virtual instruments from your guitar
- Create & record loops from any sound
- Easily record & share your compositions online
- Play and edit loops and audio files with your guitar
- Import and jam to backing tracks or loops directly from iTunes

With TriplePlay Connect, your guitar and your imagination, you can create music, explore soundscapes, share, interact and have fun.
1. JOHN COLTRANE

Both Directions At Once: The Lost Album (Impulse!)

Above all, Both Directions At Once works as a snapshot of a wondrous band on the cusp of revolution. The 14 studio performances, all recorded March 6, 1963, by engineer Rudy Van Gelder at his New Jersey studio, fill out the history of Trane’s classic quartet, the song selection offering fresh insight into the way the group developed and grew. There are four takes of “Impressions” (each strikingly unique in terms of tempo and approach), three untitled originals and two versions of “One Up One Down.” Basically, this is a Coltrane fan’s fantasy come true.

2. THE BEATLES

The White Album (Anniversary Edition)

(Apple Corps Ltd./Capitol/UMe)

Sgt. Pepper’s might be The Beatles’ most feted recording, but an argument for The White Album being the group’s most feral is easy to make. Adding to the darkness, joviality and rough-hewn blues are new stereo mixes, the 27-track Esther Demons, overseen by Paul, Ringo and George Martin’s son, Giles.

3. JOHN COLTRANE

Coltrane ‘58: The Prestige Recordings (Colt)

The eight-LP set Coltrane ‘58: The Prestige Recordings captures the saxophonist at a pivotal point in becoming one of jazz’s most influential leaders and soloists. The seven sessions he cut as a leader for Prestige were but a fraction of the 20 studio dates on his calendar in 1958, just a year before recording both Kind Of Blue with Miles Davis and Giant Steps.

4. BILL EVANS

Evans In England (Resonance)

Having just formed a trio with bassist Eddie Gomez and drummer Marty Morell the year before, as well as temporarily kicking his heroin habit, ’69 marked Evans entering a new era of stability and exploratory creativity. And it’s this nascent self-discovery that’s documented on this double album of Evans’ trio playing at London’s Ronnie Scott’s club that year.

5. THE ART ENSEMBLE OF CHICAGO

The Art Ensemble Of Chicago And Associated Ensembles (ECM)

Prepared in acknowledgment of ECM’s 50th anniversary in 2019, this sizable 21-disc collection counts albums under the Art Ensemble banner, some helmed by Lester Bowie, Wadada Leo Smith, Roscoe Mitchell and Jack DeJohnette. There’s even a recording headed up by U.K. improviser Evan Parker.

6. LOUIS ARMSTRONG

Sparks, Nevada 1964! (DeTime)

A stop at the Circus Room of the Nugget Casino in Sparks, Nevada, is typical of what Armstrong’s All Stars brought to audiences in 1964. The program touches on his New Orleans roots, showcases the musicians’ chops and peaks with a couple of energetic vocal turns by Jewel Brown. And, of course, the show gives ample room for Pops to just be Pops.

7. ARETHA FRANKLIN

Spanning one of Franklin’s most fruitful periods, this collection finds The First Lady of Soul getting comfortable on her new label after leaving Columbia. Compiling 34 cuts issued from the beginning of her relationship with the imprint, hits that would elevate Franklin beyond “crossover star” status are plentiful, as are covers of Sam Cooke, The Band and others.

8. BETTY CARTER

The Music Never Stops (Blue Engine)

Blue Engine Records, the recording arm of Jazz at Lincoln Center, launched singer Betty Carter’s first posthumous album, a live 1992 recording. She’s backed alternately by a jazz orchestra, a string section, and three different piano trios, and her distinctive melodic alterations engage both musically and emotionally. It’s hard to remain detached while listening.

9. ERIC DOLPHY

Musical Prophet: The Expanded 1963 New York Studio Sessions (Resonance)

Whether wielding alto sax, flute or bass clarinet, Dolphy was a godsend to those who were on a mission to expand the language of jazz. He might never attain the stature and notoriety that Trane has, but the previously unreleased music from 1963 on this three-disc set goes a long way toward bolstering Dolphy’s legacy.

10. FRANK SINATRA

Frank Sinatra Sings For Only The Lonely (60th Anniversary Edition) (Capitol)

If the title and cover weren’t enough to convey the album’s theme, its somber torch songs did the trick, propelling the disc to chart-topping success in 1968. Included on Capitol’s anniversary edition are the original 12-song program in both a mono and a new stereo mix, as well as four bonus tracks.

---

11. WES MONTGOMERY

Back On Indiana Avenue: The Carroll DeCamp Recordings (Resonance)

12. DEXTER GORDON QUARTET

Tokyo 1975 (Flipside)

13. WOODY SHAW

Tokyo 1987 (Elemental)

14. THELONIOUS MONK

Mønk (Jazzline)

15. PAUL BLEY/GARY PEACOCK/PAUL MOTIAN

When Will The Blues Leave (ECM)

16. GARY BURTON

Take Another Look: A Career Retrospective (Resonance)

17. CHARLIE HADEN & BRAD MEHLDAU

Long Ago And Far Away (Mack Avenue)

18. DUKE ELLINGTON

In Coventry, 1966 (Storyville)

19. CHARLES MINGUS

Jazz In Detroit/Strata Concert Gallery/46 Selden (Blue Engine)

20. KEITH JARRETT

La Fenice (ECM)

21. ART PEPPER

Unreleased Art Pepper, Vol. 10: Bourbon Street-Toronto, June 16, 1977 (WideEye)
Simple. Bold. Declarative. The DownBeat Zippered Hoody features DryBlend moisture-wicking fabric and our classic logo. It’s our most-comfortable hoody ever! You’ll be warm, comfortable…and very, very cool!

ORDER ONE TODAY!
1-877-904-5299/ShopDownBeat.com
FAREWELL TO A BELOVED MENTOR

As the jazz world continues to mourn the death of Roy Hargrove, the bandleader has been given a posthumous honor, winning the Trumpet category in the DownBeat Readers Poll.

Roy Hargrove died suddenly on Nov. 2, 2018, at the age of 49, from cardiac arrest caused by kidney disease, an affliction with which he had long struggled.

Hargrove was, among many other things, a kind of binding agent in jazz, as trumpet-ers are wont to be; artistically generous and open-minded, he helped connect all sorts of musicians in a genre that has had its share of aesthetic schisms.

It was entirely uncontroversial—and also extremely cool—to dig Roy Hargrove. He stood apart from the neo-bop musicians who had preceded him by a decade or so—particularly Wynton Marsalis, who helped launch Hargrove’s career—in that he was part of the jazz tradition but not stuffy about it. Hargrove wasn’t supercilious about crossing genres or blending styles or even moving away from jazz.

His nonchalant, unaffected air lent him a magnetic quality. “When he played, everybody just sat up a little bit straighter and there was this excitement in the room,” said Rio Sakairi, who since 2000 has served as the artistic director of the Jazz Gallery, the Manhattan club Hargrove founded with Lezlie Harrison and Dale Fitzgerald in 1995. “He left a gaping hole.”

That was apparent last January during a tribute concert held at Jazz at Lincoln Center’s Rose Theater and hosted by bassist Christian McBride. Around 200 performers lamented the loss of a musician who meant so much to so many people.

There was Marsalis leading a traditional second line, summoning the feel of a New Orleans funeral. And here was Hargrove’s big band, along with different iterations of his celebrated quintet. There was the Dizzy Gillespie All-Star band, in which Hargrove had played. And there was Dee Dee Bridgewater, Jon Batiste and Norah Jones, who delivered a moving solo-piano rendition of “The Nearness Of You,” which Jones told the crowd she had learned by listening to Hargrove.

The trumpeter was raised in Dallas and relocated to New York in 1990, and was a prodigy from the start, moving easily among different sounds, styles and generations. His band, the RH Factor, was a loud, funky vehicle, while his quintet was a smooth-running, straightahead machine.

He won two Grammys, one for his 1997 Latin jazz album, Habana, and another for Directions In Music: Live At Massey Hall, his famed collaboration with Michael Brecker and Herbie Hancock, released in 2002. In the late 1990s, he became involved with the Soulquarian movement, working with stars from hip-hop and r&b, such as D’Angelo and Erykah Badu.

Hargrove released more than 20 albums as a leader, and his 2008 release—Earfood, the second-to-last recording he led—is one of his most highly regarded. He performed on many other artists’ recordings, but his greatest impact as a musician was perhaps at the interpersonal level. He was an avid club-goer, and often sat in at jam sessions throughout New York, particularly at Smalls, the basement jazz hangout in the West Village that operates as a proving ground for young musicians.

Such mingling kept Hargrove fresh, according to Marc Cary, a pianist/keyboardist who performed frequently with the trumpeter. “Because he was driven by a need to keep his chops together, and his love for the music, he was out most nights in pursuit of that,” Cary said. “Because he communed so frequently with the young musicians, he could pass on his wisdom of the music, the etiquette and the correct changes to a composition.”

Hargrove was a ubiquitous and outsized presence on the scene, with his stylish suits, sunglasses and fedoras. In the months leading up to his premature death, he could be found blowing away at clubs and embodying the tradition, helping to pass it along to younger players.

Sakairi said that no one’s yet risen to take Hargrove’s place as a kind of community organizer capable of bringing everyone together while also standing apart as one of the most talented musicians in the field.

Although Hargrove leaves behind an acclaimed discography, Sakairi said it is unfortunate that fans who are just discovering him—or are yet to discover him—won’t be able to experience the trumpeter in person. “It’s disheartening to think that new audiences are going to come to Roy only through his recordings,” said Sakairi, “and never understand what he was capable of in a live situation.”

—Matthew Kassel
“Yeah, Mac was ‘beyond’ even when he was still with us,” observed guitarist and Grammy award-winning producer Shane Theriot, who produced Dr. John’s final gift to the world: the last album he recorded and signed off on before his June 6 death at 77.

That as-yet unreleased album, which at press time wasn’t attached to a label, caps a genre-busting career. Steeped in the funky second-line rhythms of his hometown of New Orleans—where he joined a pantheon of piano greats from Professor Longhair to Fats Domino—Dr. John ranged far beyond his roots, without ever losing that deep connection, collecting six Grammys along the way and earning his rightful place in the Rock & Roll Hall of Fame.

Born Malcolm John Rebennack Jr., he was still a kid when he started channeling Pinetop Perkins on the keys and Lightnin’ Hopkins on guitar. As a teen in the mid-’50s, he dove headfirst into the steamy cauldron of r&b boiling over in New Orleans, wrote a couple of regional hits himself, and was touring the South as a guitarist when he sacrificed the tip of one finger to the gods in a Florida motel altercation.

That fortuitous mishap reignited Mac’s uncanny ability to “radiate the 88s,” as he put it, first as a Bourbon Street strip-joint organist and later as Dr. John The Night Tripper, the bone-and-bead bedecked stage persona he unveiled on his 1968 debut, Gris-Gris. Inspired by a Senegalese healer and conjurer who arrived in 19th century New Orleans via Haiti, Dr. John soon became inseparable from Mac himself.

“Mac did incantations and chants before the gigs,” recalled jazz keyboardist and bandleader David Torkanowsky, who played Hammond B-3 with Dr. John on and off for several decades and accompanied Mac every year to get a New Year’s blessing and gris-gris bag from their spiritual mentor, Frank Lastie. “It was sort of a spiritual reset.”

“It wasn’t a jive thing,” noted Theriot, a Neville Brothers veteran who played guitar with Dr. John on before signing on as Mac’s producer. “Everyone would hold hands in a circle, and I always felt different when we got done with that.”

Those spiritual resets carried even more weight when Theriot and Torkanowsky were both working on what they sensed would be Mac’s swan song. And while some fans might be surprised that the as-yet untitled album invokes the spirit of Hank Williams and other country pioneers, taken in context of Mac’s career, it makes perfect sense.

Ske-Dat-De-Dat: The Spirit Of Satch (2014), the last studio album Mac released before his death, salutes Louis Armstrong and follows tributes to Duke Ellington and songwriter Johnny Mercer. Now, Williams joins that illustrious list. “[T]hose songs were dear to his heart,” said Theriot, who helped Mac fulfill a dream of following Ray Charles’ lead by making his own country album. “This record wasn’t intended to be posthumous; that’s just the way things happened. It was a cohesive artistic statement Mac put together while he was here.”

Like Dr. John’s concerts, the forthcoming album has some surprises. Willie Nelson joined in for a joyous rendition of “(Give Me That) Old-Time Religion” and Rickie Lee Jones circled back to put a spell on “I Walk On Gilded Splinters.” But even the country standards were “completely Rebennack-ed out,” as Torkanowsky put it.

“Mac basically channeled ancestry, which is what great jazz players do,” Torkanowsky said. “Every time you played music with him, you were speaking to several of his ancestral griots at the same time. That’s why his music was so deep. It was informed by history and a deep reverence for those who came before him.” —Cree McCree
READERS POLL

HALL OF FAME

Hank Mobley.................. 855
Kenny Barron.................. 582
Bob Brookmeyer.............. 555
George Benson................ 546
Jack DeJohnette.............. 531
Tito Puente................... 507
Mel Tormé ..................... 486
Jim Hall.......................... 486
Dr. John.......................... 480
Carmen McRae................ 477
Kenny Burrell............... 414
John McLaughlin............. 387
Toots Thielemans.................. 387
Shirley Horn................... 381
Oliver Nelson................ 381
Les Paul.......................... 363
Charles Lloyd............... 354
Buddy Guy.......................... 321
James Moody................... 312
Allan Holdsworth.............. 306
Grant Green.................. 285
Dave Holland.................. 273

JAZZ ARTIST

Wayne Shorter............... 648
Chris Potter.................. 498
Wynton Marsalis.............. 456
Cécile McLorin Salvant..... 423
Chick Corea.................. 417
Christian Scott aTunde Adjuah........... 366
Christian McBride............ 363
Kamasi Washington........... 354
Ambrose Akinmusire......... 321
Brad Mehldau.................. 288
Pat Metheny.................. 270
Tom Harrell.................. 264
Kenny Barron.................. 249
Anat Cohen.................. 249
Fred Hersch.................. 249
Esperanza Spalding........... 246
Joey DeFrancesco........... 231
Kurt Elling.................. 231
Bill Frisell.................. 231
Tony Bennett.................. 225

JAZZ GROUP

Snarky Puppy............... 762
Wayne Shorter Quartet...... 558
Branford Marsalis Quartet 486
Pat Metheny Group........ 405
Wynton Marsalis Quintet... 393
Chick Corea Band........... 387
Brad Mehldau Trio.......... 354
Charles Lloyd Quartet...... 369
Chris Potter Underground... 354
Fred Hersch Quartet...... 351
SFJAZZ Collective........... 315

ALLIES MILLER'S Boom Tic Boom .. 309
Brian Blade & The Fellowship Band....................... 306
Christian Scott aTunde Adjuah, Quintet........... 306
Christian McBride's New Jawn 303
Tom Harrell Quintet........ 267
Ahmad Jamal Trio........... 264
Yellowjackets.................. 261
Esperanza Spalding Group........ 231
Trombone Shorty & Orleans Avenue.................. 216

BIG BAND

Maria Schneider Orchestra........ 1,131
Jazz at Lincoln Center Orchestra...... 1,068
Count Basie Orchestra........ 729
Christian McBride Big Band........ 667
Roy Hargrove Big Band........ 489
Vanguard Jazz Orchestra........ 447
WDR Big Band.................. 426
Mingus Big Band.................. 423
John Beasley's MONK's estra.. 363
Anat Cohen Tentet............... 351
Orrin Evans' Captain Black Big Band........... 345
Darcy James Argue's Secret Society........ 342
Sun Ra Arkestra................ 321
Dizzy Gillespie All-Star Big Band........ 312
Gordon Goodwin's Big Phat Band........ 306
Carla Bley with Charlie Haden's Liberation Music Orchestra Big Band........... 300
Bob Mintzer Big Band........ 270
Clayton-Hamilton Jazz Orchestra..... 249
DIVA Jazz Orchestra........ 243

JAZZ ALBUM

Wayne Shorter, Emanon (Blue Note)......... 840
Tony Bennett & Diana Krall,
Love Is Here to Stay (Verve)........ 591
Chris Potter, Circuits (Edition)........ 531
Kamasi Washington, Heaven And Earth (Young Turks)........ 456
Count Basie Orchestra, All About That Basie (Concord)........... 444
Wynton Marsalis, Goldolen Originonal Soundtrack (Blue Engine)........ 366
Branford Marsalis Quartet, The Secret Between The Shadow And The Soul (OKeh/Sony)........ 345
Joey DeFrancesco, In The Key Of The Universe (Mack Avenue)........ 336

HISTORICAL ALBUM

John Coltrane, Both Directions At Once: The Lost Album (Impulse!).......... 2,988
The Beatles, The White Album (Anniversary Edition) (Apple Corps Ltd./Capitol/UMe).......... 702
John Coltrane, Coltrane '58: The Prestige Recordings (Craft)........ 684
Kitty Evans, Evans In England (Resonance)........ 543
The Art Ensemble of Chicago, The Art Ensemble of Chicago And Associated Ensembles (ECM).... 540
Louis Armstrong, Sparks, Nevada 1964! (Dot Time)............... 489
Aretha Franklin, The Atlantic Singles Collection 1967-1970 (Rhino)........ 462
Betty Carter, The Music Never Stops (Blue Engine)........ 390
Eric Dolphy, Musical Prophet: The Expanded 1963 New York Studio Sessions (Resonance)........ 390
Frank Sinatra, Frank Sinatra Sings For Only The Lonely (60th Anniversary Edition) (Capitol)........ 378
Wes Montgomery, Back On Indiana Avenue: The Carroll DeCamp Recordings (Resonance)........ 372
Dexter Gordon Quartet, Tokyo 1975 (Elemental)........ 357
Woody Shaw, Tokyo 1981 (Elemental)........ 348
Thelonious Monk, Monk (Gearbox)........ 336
Paul Bley/Gary Peacock/Paul Motian, When Will The Blues Leave (ECM)........ 270
Gary Burton, Take Another Look: A Career Retrospective (Mack Avenue)........ 234
Charlie Haden & Brad Mehldau, Long Ago And Far Away (Impulse) .......................... 222
Duke Ellington, In Coventry, 1966 (Storyville) ..................... 201
Charles Mingus, Jazz In Detroit/Strata Concert Gallery/46 Selden (BBe) .................... 192
Keith Jarrett, La Fenice (ECM) .......................... 189

TRUMPET
Roy Hargrove .................. 1,809
Wynton Marsalis .................. 963
Ambrose Akinmusire ............... 879
Tom Harrell ..................... 699
Ingrid Jensen ..................... 519
Randy Brecker .................... 486
Terence Blanchard ............... 471
Christian Scott aTunde Adjuah 423
Arturo Sandoval .................. 369
Sean Jones ......................... 351
Chris Botti ......................... 324
Tereil Stafford ..................... 249
Dave Douglas ....................... 240
Avishai Cohen ...................... 228
Marquis Hill ....................... 222
Wadada Leo Smith .................. 195
Brian Lynch ......................... 165
Bria Skonberg ....................... 165
Jon Faddis ......................... 159
Etienne Charles ..................... 156
Jeremy Pelt ......................... 156

TROMBONE
Trombone Shorty .................. 1,206
Wycliffe Gordon ..................... 1,068

Steve Turre .......................... 762
Bill Watrous ......................... 684
Steve Davis .......................... 516
Curtis Fuller ......................... 504
Robin Eubanks ....................... 495
Jennifer Wharton ..................... 348
Conrad Herwig ....................... 315
Delfeayo Marsalis .................... 309
Michael Dease ....................... 306
Natalie Cressman ...................... 294
Marshall Gilkes ....................... 291
Slide Hampton ......................... 270
Ray Anderson ......................... 261
Ryan Keberle ......................... 225
Nils Landgren ......................... 225
John Fedchock ......................... 216
Nick Finzer ......................... 192
Alan Ferber ......................... 186

SOPRANO SAXOPHONE
Wayne Shorter ..................... 1,851
Branford Marsalis ................... 1,215
Dave Liebman ......................... 822
Ravi Coltrane ......................... 621
Chris Potter ......................... 573
Kenny Garrett ......................... 552
Jane Ira Bloom ......................... 513
Joshua Redman ......................... 510
Jan Garbarek ......................... 435
Joe Lovano ......................... 360
Steve Wilson ......................... 330
Tia Fuller ......................... 318
Sonny Fortune ......................... 309
Jane Bunnett ......................... 273
Lee Konitz ......................... 267
James Carter ......................... 249
Ted Nash ......................... 246
Roxy Coss ......................... 198
Jimmy Greene ......................... 186
Sam Newsome ......................... 177

ALTO SAXOPHONE
Kenny Garrett ..................... 1,281
Miguel Zenón ......................... 603
Lee Konitz ......................... 600
David Sanborn ......................... 543
Paquito D’Rivera ..................... 498
Dick Oatts ......................... 483
Gary Bartz ......................... 441
Tia Fuller ......................... 441
Rudresh Mahanthappa ................ 312
Steve Wilson ......................... 294
Donald Harrison ..................... 285
John Zorn ......................... 276
Anthony Braxton ..................... 255
Vincent Herring ....................... 255
Ted Nash ......................... 255
Bobby Watson ......................... 255
Steve Coleman ......................... 234
Charles McPherson ................... 210
Richie Cole ......................... 207
Sherman Irby ......................... 198

TENOR SAXOPHONE
Chris Potter ......................... 948
Wayne Shorter ......................... 705
Melissa Aldana ......................... 657
Joe Lovano ......................... 612
Joshua Redman ......................... 588
Branford Marsalis ...................... 576
Kamasi Washington .................... 453
Charles Lloyd ......................... 423
Eric Alexander ......................... 417
Scott Robinson ......................... 387
Jimmy Heath ......................... 285
Pharoah Sanders ......................... 246
Kirk Whalum ......................... 222
Mark Turner ......................... 216
Joel Frahm ......................... 213
Ernie Watts ......................... 213

BARITONE SAXOPHONE
Gary Smulyan ....................... 1,359
James Carter ......................... 1,206
Hamiet Bluiett ......................... 753
Scott Robinson ......................... 708
Ronnie Cuber ......................... 693
Claire Daly ......................... 486
Stephen “Doc” Kupka .................... 444
John Surman ......................... 429
Lauren Sevian ......................... 402
Denis DiBlasio ......................... 336
Lisa Parrott ......................... 315
Frank Basile ......................... 294
Chris Cheek ......................... 255
Ken Vandermark ....................... 255
Tim Berne ......................... 252
Mats Gustafsson ....................... 228
Paula Henderson ....................... 189
Howard Johnson ....................... 186
Patience Higgins ...................... 165
Adam Schroeder ....................... 153

CLARINET
Anat Cohen ......................... 2,967
Paquito D’Rivera ....................... 1,269
Eddie Daniels ......................... 882
Don Byron ......................... 720
Ken Peplowski ......................... 618
Victor Goines ......................... 510
Shabaka Hutchings ..................... 219
Chris Speed ......................... 195
Jeff Lederer ......................... 183
Ben Goldberg ......................... 177
Evan Christopher ..................... 153
Marty Ehrlich ......................... 153
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>KEYBOARD</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Herbie Hancock ............. 2,085</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Chick Corea.................. 1,911</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Robert Glasper ............... 864</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Larry Goldings .............. 459</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Craig Taborn .................. 384</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lyle Mays ..................... 360</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Hiromi ................................ 351</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Eddie Palmieri ................ 342</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>John Medeski .................. 330</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Patrice Rushen .............. 267</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Gary Versace ................... 255</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jason Lindner ................... 249</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Marc Cary ....................... 231</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Zaccai Curtis ................. 225</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Booker T. Jones ............. 207</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Uri Caine ......................... 198</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Henry Butler ................... 192</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Gonzalo Rubalcaba ............ 186</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Geoffrey Keezer .............. 177</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jamie Saft ........................... 165</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Julian Lage ...................... 483</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>John McLaughlin ............. 450</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mary Halvorson ............ 432</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Russell Malone ............. 429</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>John Pizzarelli .............. 354</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dave Stryker ..................... 318</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Al Di Meola ................. 312</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mimi Fox ......................... 276</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Vic Juris ......................... 273</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lionel Louecke .............. 270</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mike Stern ....................... 267</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kurt Rosenwinkel ............ 261</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pat Martino ..................... 255</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Glad Hakseman ................. 249</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Charlie Apicella ........... 243</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kevin Eubanks ............... 207</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Marcus Miller .................. 1,083</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>John Patitucci .............. 864</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Chick Corea .......................... 855</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Steve Swallow .............. 837</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Esperanza Spalding ........ 795</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>John Patitucci .................. 666</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Thundercat ..................... 528</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Richard Bona .................... 390</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Linda May Han Oh ........... 339</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tim Lefebvre ..................... 303</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tony Levin ......................... 252</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Avishai Cohen .................. 237</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Meshell Ndegeocello .......... 210</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tal Wilkenfeld ............... 210</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>James Genus ..................... 198</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Felix Pastorius .............. 198</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Derrick Hodge ................. 192</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jimmy Haslip ..................... 177</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pino Palladino .................. 171</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Scott Colley ..................... 165</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Marcus Miller .................. 1,083</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>John Patitucci .................. 864</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Chick Corea .......................... 855</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Steve Swallow .............. 837</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Esperanza Spalding ........ 795</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>John Patitucci .................. 666</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Thundercat ..................... 528</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Richard Bona .................... 390</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Linda May Han Oh ........... 339</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tim Lefebvre ..................... 303</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tony Levin ......................... 252</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Avishai Cohen .................. 237</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Meshell Ndegeocello .......... 210</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tal Wilkenfeld ............... 210</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>James Genus ..................... 198</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Felix Pastorius .............. 198</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Derrick Hodge ................. 192</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jimmy Haslip ..................... 177</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pino Palladino .................. 171</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Scott Colley ..................... 165</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>GUITAR</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Pat Metheny .................. 1,164</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Bill Frisell ...................... 801</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>John Scofield .................... 543</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Peter Bernstein ................ 540</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Christian McBride ............... 1,818</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ron Carter ......................... 1,167</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Esperanza Spalding ........ 810</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dave Holland ..................... 723</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Linda May Han Oh ........ 561</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Stanley Clarke ................. 429</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>John Patitucci .................. 429</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>John Clayton ...................... 372</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Larry Grenadier ................. 315</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Avishai Cohen .................. 291</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rufus Reid ......................... 285</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Victor Wooten ................... 276</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Luques Curtis ..................... 222</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mark Wade ......................... 219</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Scott Colley ..................... 216</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Gary Peacock ..................... 177</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>William Parker ................... 174</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Peter Washington ............... 165</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Reggie Workman ................. 159</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Carlos Henriques ............... 144</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Julian Lage ...................... 483</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>John McLaughlin ............. 450</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mary Halvorson ............ 432</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Russell Malone ............. 429</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>John Pizzarelli .............. 354</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Dave Stryker ..................... 318</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Al Di Meola ................. 312</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mimi Fox ......................... 276</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Vic Juris ......................... 273</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lionel Louecke .............. 270</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mike Stern ....................... 267</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kurt Rosenwinkel ............ 261</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pat Martino ..................... 255</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Glad Hakseman ................. 249</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Charlie Apicella ........... 243</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kevin Eubanks ............... 207</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Marcus Miller .................. 1,083</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>John Patitucci .................. 864</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Chick Corea .......................... 855</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Steve Swallow .............. 837</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Esperanza Spalding ........ 795</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>John Patitucci .................. 666</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Thundercat ..................... 528</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Richard Bona .................... 390</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Linda May Han Oh ........... 339</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tim Lefebvre ..................... 303</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tony Levin ......................... 252</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Avishai Cohen .................. 237</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Meshell Ndegeocello .......... 210</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Tal Wilkenfeld ............... 210</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>James Genus ..................... 198</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Felix Pastorius .............. 198</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Derrick Hodge ................. 192</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Jimmy Haslip ..................... 177</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pino Palladino .................. 171</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Scott Colley ..................... 165</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Susan Hansen ........................................ 135
Scott Tixier ........................................ 135
Tomoko Omura .................................... 120
Andy Stein ......................................... 117
Aaron Weinstein ................................ 117
Eyvind Kang ...................................... 111

DRUMS

Brian Blade .................. 849 (TIE)
Jack DeJohnette ............. 849 (TIE)
Steve Gadd ....................... 453
Terri Lyne Carrington .......... 450
Roy Haynes .................................. 435
Antonio Sanchez ................. 396
Allison Miller .................... 354
Jeff Hamilton ...................... 339
Billy Cobham ...................... 300
Matt Wilson .......................... 282
Eric Harland ........................... 264
Jeff “Tain” Watts .................. 243
Billy Hart ................................. 225
Vinnie Colaiuta .................... 204
Johnathan Blake ................. 192
Lewis Nash ............................... 180
Kenny Washington ............... 177
Mark Guiliana ....................... 174
Marcus Gilmore ...................... 171

PERCUSSION

Poncho Sanchez ...................... 813
Sheila E ........................................ 684
Zakir Hussain ......................... 672
Airto Moreira ............................. 531
Jerry Gonzalez ....................... 516
Pedrito Martinez ..................... 462
Bobby Sanabria ...................... 459
Cyro Baptista ............................ 432
Trilok Gurtu ............................... 381
Dan Weiss .................................... 327
Mino Cinela ............................... 294
Sammy Figueroa ..................... 284
Marilyn Mazur ............................ 255
Hamid Drake ............................. 243
Susie Ibarra .............................. 240
Famoudou Don Moye ................ 213
Pete Escovedo ......................... 201

VIBRAPHONE

Stefon Harris .............. 1,665
Joe Locke ......................... 840
Warren Wolf ......................... 783
Terry Gibbs ......................... 717
Steve Nelson ......................... 609
Mike Mainieri ........................... 534
Dave Samuels ......................... 480
Jason Marsalis ....................... 450
Cecilia Smith ......................... 425
Joe Chambers ......................... 225
Sasha Berliner ...................... 198
Mike Dillon ......................... 195
Jason Adasiewicz ................. 189
Kenny Wollesen ..................... 156
Mulatu Astatke ...................... 153
Jim Hart ................................. 138

MISCELLANEOUS INSTRUMENT

Béla Fleck (banjo) ........ 1,023
Chris Potter (bass clarinet) .... 675
Scott Robinson (bass saxophone) .... 498
Jon Batiste (melodica/ harmoniboard) .... 423
Wycliffe Gordon (tuba) ...... 417
James Carter (bass saxophone) ... 387
Gary Versace (accordion) ...... 354
Steve Turre (shells) .......... 339
Chris Thile (mandolin) .... 333
Anouar Brahem (oud) ........ 324
David Murray (bass clarinet) ... 321
Brandee Younger (harp) ...... 318
Joe Lovano (altochrome) ........ 306
Grégoire Maret (harmonica) ... 291
Richard Galliano (accordion) ... 270
Howard Johnson (tuba) ....... 231
Peggy Lee (cello) ................. 228
Anoushka Shankar (sitar) .... 225
Tomeka Reid (cello) ............ 222
Edmar Castaneda (Colombian harp) ..... 216

Hendrik Meurkens .................. 138
Matt Moran .............................. 129
Jorge Rossy ......................... 126

FEMALE VOCALIST

Cécile McLorin Salvant ........ 1,350
Diana Krall ......................... 1,059
Esperanza Spalding ................ 804
Dee Dee Bridgewater .............. 624
Dianne Reeves .......................... 600
Cyrille Aimée .......................... 453
Cassandra Wilson .................... 438
Jazzmeia Horn ......................... 366
Lizz Wright ......................... 288
Catherine Russell ................ 255
Sheila Jordan ......................... 246
Roberta Gambarini ................. 243
Karrin Allyson ....................... 198
René Marie ............................. 193
Kate McGarry ....................... 183
Madeleine Peyroux ................. 180
Sara Gazarek ......................... 174
Patricia Barber ...................... 162
Diane Schuur ......................... 162
Gretchen Parlato ..................... 159
Luciana Souza ....................... 159

MALE VOCALIST

Kurt Elling ..................... 1,836
Tony Bennett ..................... 1,695
Gregory Porter ..................... 1,440
Bobby McFerrin ................. 1,073

Banjo player Béla Fleck, winner of the Miscellaneous Instrument category

Kurt Elling, winner of the Male Vocalist category

Allison Miller, winner of the Percussion category

Banjo player Béla Fleck, winner of the Miscellaneous Instrument category

Kurt Elling, winner of the Male Vocalist category
Jacob Collier ..................... 570
Michael Bublé ..................... 519
Theo Bleckmann .................. 477
John Pizzarelli .................... 334
Andy Bey ............................ 321
José James .......................... 288
Leslie Odom Jr. ................. 264
Freddy Cole ....................... 255
Kenny Washington .............. 234
Jamie Cullum ..................... 201
Allan Harris ....................... 188
Dhafer Youssef ................... 168
James Blood Ulmer ............ 159
Johnny O’Neal .................... 158
Pete McGuinness ............... 144
John Boutté ....................... 120
Giacomo Gates .................... 120

COMPOSER
María Schneider .................. 1,017
Wayne Shorter .................... 831
Chick Corea .......................... 447
Pat Metheny ....................... 447
Wynton Marsalis .................. 438
Carla Bley ......................... 423
Benny Golson ...................... 423
Kamasi Washington .............. 375
Terence Blanchard .............. 363
Jim McNeely ...................... 297
Tom Harrell ....................... 276
Randy Weston ..................... 276
Ambrose Akinmusire .......... 261
Christian Scott aTunde Adjuah 243
John Zorn ......................... 219
Christian McBride ............... 207
Jimmy Heath ....................... 171
Vijay Iyer .......................... 171
Robert Glasper ................. 168
Bill Frisell ......................... 162

ARRANGER
María Schneider ................. 1,266
Wynton Marsalis ............... 689
Carla Bley ......................... 465
Jim McNeely ...................... 420
Jacob Collier ...................... 417
Kamasi Washington ............. 375
Christian McBride .................. 357
Gordon Goodwin ............... 345
Bob Mintzer ....................... 330
Vince Mendoza .................... 330
John Clayton ...................... 297
Esperanza Spalding ............ 291

Michael Abene ................... 255
Billy Childs ....................... 249
Dave Holland ..................... 240
John Zorn ......................... 228
Robert Glasper .................... 222
John Beasley ..................... 216
Alan Broadbent ................. 213
Slide Hampton .................... 210

THE BEYOND LIST

Blue Note LABEL

Blue Note ......................... 2,265
ECM .................. 1,257
Mack Avenue ................. 474
Smoke Sessions Records .... 339
Impulse! ...................... 252
Verve ......................... 234
Concord ....................... 198
Resonance .................... 174
Cris Cross Jazz .......... 171
Origin ..................... 153
Sunside ...................... 153
Posi-Tone .................... 147
Mosaic .................... 144
ACT ..................... 141
Nonesuch .................... 141
HighNote .................. 135
Pi Recordings ................. 135
ArtistShare ................. 132
SmallSŁE .......... 126
Motema .............. 126
Ropeadope ............ 123
The Royal Potato Family .. 111
BluJazz .................... 99
Truth Revolution ............ 99
SteepleChase .............. 90
Clean Feed ............... 84
Brooklyn Jazz Underground; 81
Marsalis Music .......... 81
Tzadik .................... 81

BLUES ARTISTS OR GROUPS

Buddy Guy ......................... 1,272
Eric Clapton ..................... 789
Gary Clark Jr. .................. 648
Joe Bonamassa ................. 516
Taj Mahal .................... 435
Keb’ Mo’ ................... 411
Robben Ford .................. 372
Robert Cray .................... 348
James Blood Ulmer ....... 252
Shemekia Copeland ........ 207
Marcia Ball .................... 183
Charlie Musselwhite ....... 183
John Mayall ..................... 174
Eric Bibb .................... 156
Fantastic Negrito ............ 144
Elvin Bishop .................. 141
Ira Thomas .................. 129
Otis Taylor ................... 126
North Mississippi Allstars . 117
Thornetta Davis .............. 108
Ronnie Earl & The Broadcasters. 108
Sonny Landreth .............. 108

BARBARA BLUE, FISH IN DIRTY H2O
(Big Blue) ....................... 93
Cedric Burnside, Benton County
Relic (Single Lock) .......... 93
Kenny Wayne Shepherd Band,
The Traveler (Concord) ...... 93

BEYOND ARTIST OR GROUP

Dr. John ................................ 615
Aretha Franklin ................. 531
Jeff Beck .......................... 522
Stevie Wonder .................. 336
Tedeschi Trucks Band .......... 321
Norah Jones ..................... 303
Donald Fagen .................... 294
Rhianon Giddens ............... 276
Anderson .Paak .................... 267
Lady Gaga ....................... 255
Robert Glasper Experiment ... 249
Van Morrison ..................... 231
Björk ............................. 204
Erykah Badu ..................... 195
Bonnie Raitt ...................... 189
Rubén Blades .................... 183
Bob Dylan ....................... 171
Alabama Shades ............... 162
Paul McCartney ............... 159
Laurie Anderson .................. 141
Dweezil Zappa ................. 141

BEYOND ALBUM

George Benson, Walking To
New Orleans: Remembering
Chuck Berry And Fats Domino
(Provoogue) ...................... 714
Tedeschi Trucks Band, Signs
(Fantasy) ......................... 351
Jon Batiste, Hollywood Africans
(Verve) .......................... 498
Norah Jones, Begin Again
(Blue Note) .............. 486
Anderson .Paak, Ventura
(Almoowaths12 Tone) ...... 402
Van Morrison, The Prophet Saves
(Caroline) ....................... 384
Elvis Costello, Look Now
(Concord) ..................... 348
Wille Nelson, My Way (Legacy).
(Capitol) ....................... 330
Mavis Staples, We Get By
(ANTI-) ......................... 330
Paul Simon, In The Blue Light
(Legacy) ....................... 324
Rhianon Giddens, There Is
No Other (Nonesuch) ....... 303
Paul McCartney, Egypt Station
(Capitol) ....................... 243
Medeski Martin & Wood,
Omnispheres (Indirecto) .... 243
José James, Lean On Me
(Blue Note) ..................... 240
Beyonce, Homecoming:
The Live Album (Columbia) .... 234
Mimi Fox, The Bird Still Flies
(Origin) ......................... 204
Madeleine Peyroux, Anthem
(Universal/Decca/Verve) .... 198
Flying Lotus, Flamagra ( Warp) . 192
Angélique Kidjo, Celia
(Verve)/Universal Music France) ... 186
GIVE DOWNBEAT FOR THE HOLIDAYS!

AND THEY’LL BE REMINDED OF YOUR GIFT ALL YEAR LONG!
DOWNBEAT.COM/GIFT